

2017: A Year to Finish What HE Started

2017 is a year where God wants to have you retrace your steps back to dreams you've lost, plans you forfeited, desires you've abandoned, and callings you've allowed to wither and die.

There will be a grace to resurrect dead dreams and FINISH what HE started. Things that you started without God's direction won't fit into this discussion, but things that He said which got derailed will come into clearer view and they will work. It won't be a year of wildly new and exciting beginnings. It will be a year to dust off what has already been in motion to see the glory that is right before your eyes.

It will be a year to go deeper instead of wider; a year to master your craft and step into your calling; a year to bring clarity and focus to what you've always known was alive and well within you.

2017 will be a season where you'll see with better than 20/20 vision and the breath of God will cause you to experience maximum results from the efforts you put forth.

2017 will be a season where you truly become like a tree planted by the rivers of water; not only will you not be moved, but you will give birth to fruit that will remain as legacy seed for generations to come.

So, prepare for results that will blow your mind and a newfound reality: that it's never been about you, it's always been about God. And, as you yield everything to Him, His plan will prevail in you, around you, and through you!
